Dear Catherine:

You are a good sport. I appreciate your frankness and modesty. The only interim duties will be to let me know the state of our bank account, so that we can determine the funds available for the New York meeting.

The dinner will cost $6.50 + 15%. My question to the Executive Board, including you now, is, can we afford to invite more than one speaker? The Chapter funds will undoubtedly pay for Mr. Talbott; can we also pay for Miss Snook and Mr. Waters, our afternoon speakers. If not, I will foot the bill personally.

Then there will be cocktails in the afternoon between meetings. I prefer for obvious reasons to limit my own entertaining expenses to the latter. I would not want to levy a registration fee for the dinners. We have no other expenses for the meeting as far as I can foresee, since the meeting room is free. Your advice in this matter will be appreciated, since I will have to send out reservation forms this month.

Thanks in advance!

Sincerely,

Kate
